Dear All

We promised earlier this week that we would write to you once we received further information about what any appeals process might look like. Yesterday, Ofqual published its guidance surrounding this as well as issuing a document for students.

Accordingly, we have updated the Policy for 2020 Exams and Appeals in line with the latest guidance. Please find it attached. Please also find attached Ofqual's own student guide about this process.

For A Level students, we are aware that there continues to be uncertainty. We welcome recent statements from the Government about increased capacity for courses and increased funding and we very much hope that this will be beneficial. We continue to pass on our views to national organisations to put pressure on the appropriate decision-makers.

Yours sincerely

Mrs C Tao
